

Science @ Creative Commons - Science Advisory Board Charge

I. Purpose

The Science Advisory Board, hereafter the “Board,” provides high-level guidance to the Creative Commons (CC) science team, and will help set the agenda and strategic direction for the science program at CC.

II. Composition

The Board comprises a cross-section of experts in the science and data community. Members are invited by CC in their personal capacity, not as representatives of organizations with whom they are affiliated. Members shall have no power or authority to act on behalf of CC. Members will serve voluntarily and without remuneration.

III. Activities

- The full Board will participate in two conference calls annually, led by the science team, in particular, the Project Coordinator for Science and Data at CC.
- The science team may periodically contact individual Board members (by phone or through email) as needed for input.
- A Board email list will be created and all the Board members will be added to the list.
- Board members will act as liaisons between CC and the various science and data communities they are a part of, and aim to connect CC with relevant persons, organizations, and projects, as appropriate.
- The science team will provide a bi-annual written report to the Board summarizing key initiatives and strategy.
